Leadership is the capacity of organization, motivation, and guidance to achieve a given objective. To be a good leader one must gain the confidence of others. So we will try to present our capabilities to carry out the leader changes into the smooth running of the socio-educational club.

First we must have confidence in our going comrade. He communicates with members of the group. You must have good relations with our teachers and administration.

So he must be tolerant. He must respect. He must manage conflicts. The leader must also learn, he is not afraid of any criticism. A successful leader must attract people. He must organize events to help our parents to build classrooms. We need to clean the places in our school. He must pay to buy chalk and boxes of documents. The leader must have the ability to motivate, involve, boost, guide, inspire, and influence those around him. We must be references in the work. The leader must have moral qualities and clothing, and going to listen to people, be a responsible man. We need to know what the objectives are and how to achieve them. The leader needs to know the organizational capacity to achieve a given objective. The leader also plays the role of mediator in conflict resolution.

A good leader knows what the school wants, communicating his intentions, transmits its power to others.
